

Do you need to Click before you dig?

canadian energy pipeline association | association canadienne de pipelines d'énergie

Planning a project outdoors? Follow this chart to find out if you should locate buried infrastructure, such as pipelines, before you start.

A professional locate is the only way to know for sure if and where underground utilities are located near your project. No matter how small your project, you should always Click Before You Dig. clickbeforeyoudig.com

What should I do after I click?

- ➔ Wait until the lines are located! Utility operators will contact you or will mark their facilities with paint or flags, usually within 2 -3 business days.
- ➔ Follow instructions from the utility operator.
- ➔ Dig with care! Report any damages immediately.
- ➔ Pipeline company locates vary by province and are typically valid for a minimum of 14 days.